

Please do not allow this weakening change to the "no call" list to take place. Shouldn't it be enough to those solicitors to know that they've already narrowed the margin in finding those customers who are truly interested and those who are not. The no call act should save them time and money. Please leave us alone!